

Fleet management system suits airport environment Swissport has partnered with MiX Telematics to develop a fleet management solution suited to the airport environment in which it operates.

The software allows the company to see at a glance exactly where all its equipment is at any given time. It makes the monitoring and last-minute moving of equipment easy and reliable, says Peter Frame, vice president, operations at Swissport South Africa. Incorrect times can't be logged and the closest tug can always be used to accommodate a change in flight plan.
